JESSICA HANS / MUG

Price from 279,00 NOK

DESIGN BY JESSICA HANS FOR HAY Based on a handmade design, built and decorated with materials in their natural state, Jessica Hans' stoneware Cups have a deliberately uneven and irregular design. The design collaboration with HAY is intended to encapsulate Jessica's organic and abstract work in a functional object, with the sporadic use of colours and shapes making each cup unique. Jessica Hans graduated with a Bachelor's Degree of Fine Art at Maryland Institute College of Art in 2012, focusing on textile design and ceramics. She now runs her artist studio in Philadelphia, where she uses her wide range of expertise to develop ceramic art and products for customers in the US and abroad. Jessica's work stems from an interest in the naturally occurring pattern and texture of rock and earth combined with the ever-present motifs present in modern design. She intends her work to serve a purpose, such as a vase for beautiful flowers, but also hopes the pieces can exist alone as art objects. Jessica has designed a series of mugs and vases for HAY.
